According to the Toronto-based Institute for Work & Health, only 1 out of 5 new workers receives safety training. Sadly though, that's exactly when new workers are the most at risk for injuries. Numerous studies over the last several decades have proven this to be true.

Knowing this, what can you do to reduce the risk new employees, or those employees new to a job, face during the first months at a new job?

In this webinar, A Better Way to Onboard, we will answer that question by looking at these questions:

1. Does age or experience have more influence on the chances of being injured?
2. What are the risk factors that contribute to new workers being more at risk?
3. What are the elements of a successful onboarding program?
