

Safety Leadership for Supervisors

Speaker: Tom Fitzgerald, safetyfitz.com

Date: March 29

Time: 9:00 AM – 10:30 AM PST

Supervisors play a critical role in promoting and implementing safety practices in the workplace. By demonstrating safety leadership, they can help to create a safer work environment and protect the health and well-being of their team members.

The presentation on “Safety Leadership for Supervisors” will focus on the importance of safety leadership in the workplace and the role of supervisors in promoting a safe working environment. The presentation will cover the following topics:

1. Understanding safety leadership: The first part of the presentation will focus on defining safety leadership and its importance in the workplace. It will explain how safety leadership goes beyond just enforcing rules and regulations, but involves creating a safety culture that prioritizes the well-being of employees.
2. The role of supervisors: The second part of the presentation will focus on the role of supervisors in promoting safety leadership. It will explain how supervisors play a crucial role in ensuring that safety policies and procedures are followed, and in creating a culture of safety in the workplace.
3. Safety communication: The third part of the presentation will focus on effective safety communication. It will discuss the importance of clear and concise communication between supervisors and employees regarding safety procedures and policies.
4. Hazard identification and risk assessment: The fourth part of the presentation will focus on hazard identification and risk assessment. It will explain how supervisors can identify potential hazards and assess the risks associated with them, and how this information can be used to prevent accidents and injuries.

5. Safety training and education: The final part of the presentation will focus on safety training and education. It will discuss the importance of providing employees with the necessary training and education to promote a safe working environment.

Overall, this presentation will provide supervisors with the knowledge and skills needed to promote safety leadership in the workplace, creating a culture of safety that benefits everyone.
