

The Gig Worker Gap: Are Canadian Labour Laws Catching Up?

Recorded Date: May 14, 2025

Time: 9:00 AM – 10:00 AM (PST)

Speakers: Glenn Demby, HR Insider Editor-in-Chief

About This Webinar

With nearly 1 in 3 Canadians participating in gig work, the question isn't if this shift affects your organization—it's how soon.

Join HR Insider Editor-in-Chief Glenn Demby for an important legal briefing on the evolving world of gig employment and Canadian labour law. Based on his recent in-depth analysis, this session explores how outdated legal categories are leaving gig workers—and employers—struggling with compliance uncertainty.

In this 60-minute webinar, Glenn will break down:

- How existing labour, employment standards, and OHS laws apply to gig workers
- What provinces like Ontario, BC, and Québec are doing to update protections
- Unionization rights for “dependent contractors”
- What your organization needs to consider when using freelance, contract, or platform-based workers
- Legal risks of misclassification—and how to reduce them
- If your organization uses gig workers—or might in the future—this session is essential for keeping your HR strategy compliant, competitive, and future-ready.

Save your seat and get the clarity you need on Canada's evolving gig economy laws.
