

Protect Yourself Against Bloodborne Pathogens – Video

About this Course

You can protect yourself from bloodborne pathogens by taking the proper precautions. Follow universal precautions, practice safe work habits, wear the required PPE, and clean any contaminated equipment or surfaces. These steps will significantly reduce your risk of exposure to harmful bloodborne diseases.