Stress Management – HR Course

For most of us, life and work can be stressful. There really is no getting around this. This course will cover what stress is, how we react to stress, common types of stress and how to manage stress.